

NANCY'S MONTHLY FORECAST

2014 is ruled by the vibration of the Universal Number Seven. This year is a very fertile time for us to learn to create our desired realities by both mastering our thoughts and transcending our thoughts to access the realms of the unseen through our extrasensory abilities.

N-SIGHTS FOR FEBRUARY 2014

MATTERS OF THE HEART

The Number Codes for February

Nine Universal Month – Tests, Endings, Love, Compassion, Gratitude, Charity, and Forgiveness

Seven Universal Year - Divine Revelations, Truth Revealed, Healing

Period, Preparation for Change, the Power of Mind and Intuition

February (the calendar month) is the Second Month of 2014.

February's (the word's) Soul Number is Nine the same as our Universal Month Number above.

February's (the word's) Letter Sum is Eleven, the Master Number of Peace and Harmony

How February 2014 Adds Up:

From my perspective, the three most important indicator words for this month are: "endings", "relationships" and "love." The latter two words, of course, are the words we always associate with Valentine's Day which we perennially celebrate on February 14th.

Add in the fact of Mercury being retrograde this month and it becomes clear that for most of us, this is not our month to go forward but instead tend to saying good-bye to people and circumstances that no longer serve us.

Of course, sometimes things just happen of their own accord even if we are in passive mode and not inspired to let go of those things which may be preventing us from moving forward. – We are released from our jobs; our romantic partners leave us; contracts are up and are not renewed -- or people close to us move away or leave the planet.

Many I encounter are anxious to change the circumstances of their lives and are frustrated by a feeling of "cosmic inertia" that they encounter --- sort of like those commercials we have seen in the past with two people running toward each other and never getting there – just stuck in the perpetual motion of running in place.

If this describes your life right now, I want to offer my assurance that there is hope on the horizon. First off, from a numerology standpoint, we have been in "wind-down" mode and won't resume forward motion until March. When I look at the Universal numbers of our year in general I am reminded that we are in a Seven energy which is much more passive. (If you listen to the audio forecast on this website I explain that our progress this year comes from more from mental effort than from physical exertion.)

Every year has a momentum to it which escalates, peaks in September and then begins waning again. Consistently, when I examine my clients' numerology charts for 2014, there is a pattern of their lives becoming increasingly active as the year progresses, with Fall being the most active time.

In addition, astrologers offer that this year contains a higher than usual number of retrograde planet transits which can impede our progress. However, the major equinoxes and planetary transits in April and later in 2014 can create a cosmic climate for life changes.

So, if you've been bemoaning the fact that your life is not progressing as rapidly toward your goals as you'd like it to, it's best to stop and remember that there is a time for everything – and now, especially this month, the most pro-active thing we can do is to get rid of everything in our lives that is not working – and/or just learn to be in a state of fervently loving, enjoying and blessing our present moments and the people we cherish knowing that for every thing there is a season.

If you have the Numbers Two, Seven and Nine showing strongly in your natal numerology chart or if you are transiting a Seven Personal Year, the above possibilities are even more likely to be part of your experience this month.

For my part, there are a number of things on my "to do" list including investigating whether social networking is something that I can be inspired to participate in. I have a number of "how to" tutorials and resources on tap, but so far it's as though I'm being physically blocked from taking action. I'm guessing that the right time for me is going to be March when I begin transiting my Four Personal Month in our One Universal Month – a signal for me to begin building a new foundation for my business.

What I am called to do right now is – end relationships! I have realized that I am subscribed to a plethora of informative e-newsletters and seminar information that I have valued but which no longer calls out to me. Therefore, every day I resolve to say good-bye to at least one contact in this category. How long will this termination of e-contacts ritual go on? I other than know at this point. I do know, however, that for me to devote time to exploring social networking, I need to release other claims on my time and energy and that saying "thank you and good-bye" as I reduce my contact list elicits a very satisfied feeling.

Important Dates This Month

Thursday, February 6, 2014	Mercury Retrograde Begins
Friday, February 14, 2014	Valentine's Day
	Full Moon in Leo
Monday, February 17, 2014	Presidents' Day (USA)
Friday, February 28, 2014	End – Mercury Retrograde
	New Moon in Pisces

The Bottom Line This Month –

Focus on releasing that which no longer serves you -- relationships, possessions and/or habits.

Express gratitude for the people and circumstances that are enriching your life right now.

Give to people and causes you believe in.

Do forgiveness rituals if you are called.

Listen to the messages from your heart and act on them.

Next month -- moving forward becomes easier!

