How March 2014 Adds Up:

Finally – the energies of 2014 begin to gently caress and nudge us to awaken to the possibilities of this year of spiritual enlightenment and revelation. Are we immediately awake on our feet and ready for action?

No – these subtle process allows us to slowly begin to sense and respond to the fact that we are in a time of renewal and change. The shadow of Mercury retrograde extends up to the time of the Solstice on March 20th after which, with perfect timing, we can fully open our eyes, survey the landscape and intuit what new path is ours to claim and what activities support us on our journey through the rest of the year. By month's end, the sun brings warmth, enlightenment and clarity to our world with the portals for transformation awaiting us as we travel April's energies. Even though we do still have Mars and Saturn going retrograde now (Oh yes! –It's always something!), remember, your intuition and optimism will always stand you in good stead.

Your own Personal Month Number for March is a code indicator for activities related to your acquiring the vision for your new beginning. For example, my Personal Month Number is Four which has any number of possibilities related to creating a new structure or foundation in my life – a new health regimen, new business plan, new financial security are some of the options. You probably already know what your "directions" are. If not, just let the month play out, and they will surface by Solstice time. (Or contact me for a Current Patterns reading.)
